Name	Date

 Which of the following are species of manatee? Circle all that apply. a. dugong b. West Indian manatee c. African manatee d. Amazonian manatee What other animal is a close relative to the manatee and found in the Sirenia family? a. hippopotamus b. African elephant c. American crocodile d. elephant seal What environmental and climate conditions do manatees prefer? a. Warm tropical waters b. Dense cold saltwater c. Warm and and dry soils Manatees feed on a lot of seagrass, made of abrasive plant material. Which anatomical feature is an important adaptation to their feeding habits? a. Marching molars b. Sharp Incisor teeth c. Sensitive tongues How do manatees find their way around in murky waters? a. Sharp eyesight b. Nerves in their hair follicles c. Keen sense of smell 		The Florida Manatee
 a. dugong b. West Indian manatee c. African manatee d. Amazonian manatee 2. What other animal is a close relative to the manatee and found in the Sirenia family? a. hippopotamus b. African elephant c. American crocodile d. elephant seal 3. What environmental and climate conditions do manatees prefer? a. Warm tropical waters b. Dense cold saltwater c. Warm and and dry soils 4. Manatees feed on a lot of seagrass, made of abrasive plant material. Which anatomical feature is an important adaptation to their feeding habits? a. Marching molars b. Sharp Incisor teeth c. Sensitive tongues 5. How do manatees find their way around in murky waters? a. Sharp eyesight b. Nerves in their hair follicles 	1	Which of the following are species of manatee? Circle all that apply
 c. African manatee d. Amazonian manatee 2. What other animal is a close relative to the manatee and found in the Sirenia family? a. hippopotamus b. African elephant c. American crocodile d. elephant seal 3. What environmental and climate conditions do manatees prefer? a. Warm tropical waters b. Dense cold saltwater c. Warm and and dry soils 4. Manatees feed on a lot of seagrass, made of abrasive plant material. Which anatomical feature is an important adaptation to their feeding habits? a. Marching molars b. Sharp Incisor teeth c. Sensitive tongues 5. How do manatees find their way around in murky waters? a. Sharp eyesight b. Nerves in their hair follicles 	١.	a. dugong
 d. Amazonian manatee 2. What other animal is a close relative to the manatee and found in the Sirenia family? a. hippopotamus b. African elephant c. American crocodile d. elephant seal 3. What environmental and climate conditions do manatees prefer? a. Warm tropical waters b. Dense cold saltwater c. Warm and and dry soils 4. Manatees feed on a lot of seagrass, made of abrasive plant material. Which anatomical feature is an important adaptation to their feeding habits? a. Marching molars b. Sharp Incisor teeth c. Sensitive tongues 5. How do manatees find their way around in murky waters? a. Sharp eyesight b. Nerves in their hair follicles family? a. hippopotamus b. African elephant c. American crocodile d. elephant seal 3. What environmental and climate conditions do manatees prefer? a. Warm tropical waters b. Dense cold saltwater c. Warm and and dry soils 4. Manatees feed on a lot of seagrass, made of abrasive plant material. Which anatomical feature is an important adaptation to their feeding habits? a. Marching molars b. Sharp Incisor teeth c. Sensitive tongues 5. How do manatees find their way around in murky waters? a. Sharp eyesight b. Nerves in their hair follicles 		d. Amazonian manatee
 b. African elephant c. American crocodile d. elephant seal 3. What environmental and climate conditions do manatees prefer? a. Warm tropical waters b. Dense cold saltwater c. Warm and and dry soils 4. Manatees feed on a lot of seagrass, made of abrasive plant material. Which anatomical feature is an important adaptation to their feeding habits? a. Marching molars b. Sharp Incisor teeth c. Sensitive tongues 5. How do manatees find their way around in murky waters? a. Sharp eyesight b. Nerves in their hair follicles 	2.
 c. American crocodile d. elephant seal 3. What environmental and climate conditions do manatees prefer? a. Warm tropical waters b. Dense cold saltwater c. Warm and and dry soils 4. Manatees feed on a lot of seagrass, made of abrasive plant material. Which anatomical feature is an important adaptation to their feeding habits? a. Marching molars b. Sharp Incisor teeth c. Sensitive tongues 5. How do manatees find their way around in murky waters? a. Sharp eyesight b. Nerves in their hair follicles
 d. elephant seal 3. What environmental and climate conditions do manatees prefer? a. Warm tropical waters b. Dense cold saltwater c. Warm and and dry soils 4. Manatees feed on a lot of seagrass, made of abrasive plant material. Which anatomical feature is an important adaptation to their feeding habits? a. Marching molars b. Sharp Incisor teeth c. Sensitive tongues 5. How do manatees find their way around in murky waters? a. Sharp eyesight b. Nerves in their hair follicles 		·
 a. Warm tropical waters b. Dense cold saltwater c. Warm and and dry soils 4. Manatees feed on a lot of seagrass, made of abrasive plant material. Which anatomical feature is an important adaptation to their feeding habits? a. Marching molars b. Sharp Incisor teeth c. Sensitive tongues 5. How do manatees find their way around in murky waters? a. Sharp eyesight b. Nerves in their hair follicles
 b. Dense cold saltwater c. Warm and and dry soils 4. Manatees feed on a lot of seagrass, made of abrasive plant material. Which anatomical feature is an important adaptation to their feeding habits? a. Marching molars b. Sharp Incisor teeth c. Sensitive tongues 5. How do manatees find their way around in murky waters? a. Sharp eyesight b. Nerves in their hair follicles 	3.	•
 4. Manatees feed on a lot of seagrass, made of abrasive plant material. Which anatomical feature is an important adaptation to their feeding habits? a. Marching molars b. Sharp Incisor teeth c. Sensitive tongues 5. How do manatees find their way around in murky waters? a. Sharp eyesight b. Nerves in their hair follicles 		· anatomical feature is an important adaptation to their feeding habits? a. Marching molars b. Sharp Incisor teeth c. Sensitive tongues 5. How do manatees find their way around in murky waters? a. Sharp eyesight b. Nerves in their hair follicles 		c. Warm and and dry soils
c. Sensitive tongues 5. How do manatees find their way around in murky waters? a. Sharp eyesight b. Nerves in their hair follicles	4.	anatomical feature is an important adaptation to their feeding habits?
5. How do manatees find their way around in murky waters?a. Sharp eyesightb. Nerves in their hair follicles		·
a. Sharp eyesightb. Nerves in their hair follicles		c. Sensitive tongues
b. Nerves in their hair follicles	5.	·
c. Keen sense of smell		· · ·
6. Manatees have mineralized rib bones that act as to help them sink to	6.
the bottom. a. ballast
b. buoyancy

c. flotation

 7. What are some of the major contributors/reasons for the disappearance of manatees? Circle all that apply. a. Habitat loss b. Starvation c. Boat Strikes d. Crocodile attacks
8. How is the disappearance of seagrass meadows affecting the Florida manatee?
9. When a manatee is spotted in the wild, it is important to practice passive observation. What does this mean?
10. Why is the Florida manatee considered a conservation success story?